Thank you Raji – not a problem. I will likely use a share service called Hightail to get the files to you.
Let's talk later in the week or Monday.

Matt

I am in the process of figuring out permission levels and access issues for the USOR Sharepoint Site and am going through different training to understand. It is a complex system and is taking a while to understand what the different features are. If I am unable to get it all setup by next week, please share the plans via your ftp site. Once I figure out there are steps you all need to take to gain access. Will keep you posted. Stay tuned.
